Singapore Accreditation Council Auditors Join RABQSA

Sydney, Australia and Milwaukee, USA – RABQSA International (RABQSA) has today announced the transition of Singapore Accreditation Council (SAC) certified personnel to the RABQSA accredited auditor certification schemes.

RABQSA will transition all consenting auditors currently certified in QMS, OH&S, EMS and Food Safety certification schemes, to the aligning certification schemes accredited to ISO/IEC 17024:2003.

“The transition of such professionals from SAC to RABQSA is a keen addition to the certified personnel register, and reinforces the relevance and value to industry for certified personnel” said Michael Carmody, CEO RABQSA.

“SAC would like to express its appreciation to RABQSA for accepting the registration of auditors from SAC, and further recognizing their competence on an international spectrum” said a spokesperson from SAC.

This is a progressive step for RABQSA International as industry and associations instill their confidence in accredited personnel and training certification and the accompanying professional development.
